

Rushy Mead Wind Energy Public Exhibitions

In October Partnerships for Renewables will be submitting a planning application to Wokingham Borough Council for permission to develop a four turbine wind energy development on land owned by the University of Reading, south of the M4 between junctions 10 and 11, known as Rushy Mead.

Partnerships for Renewables will be hosting three public exhibitions to present details of the planning application and the environmental studies completed during the investigation process.

Further information about our work can be found at www.rushy-mead.co.uk
